"The LEADER'S EDGE" by drmichaelbell

I was reading a blog the other day on the subject of respect. The blogger writes, "Respect and leadership go hand in hand. It's a fundamental principle: To lead others, you first have to earn their respect. But it goes much deeper. Great leadership creates a climate of respect, an environment that sets high standards and supports everyone in doing their best." "Respect," the Queen of Soul, the late, great Aretha Franklin, sang about it. She crooned, "R-E-S-P-E-C-T...find out what it means to me." A few years later, in 1972, the Staple Singers (Google them) sang, "If you don't respect yourself...ain't nobody gonna give a good cahoot." Then, a little over a decade ago rapper, songwriter, media personality Khia sang, "If you choose to be with me, you gotta respect me."

lar. To earn it, you have to give it. The respect you show to others not only models how you'd like them to treat you and each other but also reflects your own self-respect.

Stop trying to impress everyone. Many of us grew up with the mistaken idea that if we please other people, we will be rewarded and be seen as a good person. Truth is, pleasing people is not a life strategy that will lead to anything good for you. When you stop trying to impress others, you don't have to be overmuch concerned about what they think.

Make plans. Leadership abhors a vacuum, and people feel free to impose their priorities on others who haven't made it clear they're pursuing their own priorities in life. So, stop winging it! Make plans. Announce strategies. Do the necessary helpful finger pointing!

Set boundaries and abide by them. Don't expect others to hold your boundaries for you. It's no one else's job but yours. How often have you set a boundary, only to have those people you lead refuse to respect it? It's frustrating when others don't respect your boundaries, but don't give up. As a pastor, I've had to say no sometimes. So, set boundaries and stay with it! You'll encourage others to respect your boundaries as well.

dr. michael bell is Senior Pastor of Greater St. Stephen First Church FtW, a seminary adjunct professor, and a certified Life Coach. He is the author of a new book, "Finding God in Hard Places" and is a contributor to the 2023 anthology, "Justice Looks Like..."*

Being respectful is critical in any and every facet of life. Yes, I'm not oblivious to the disconcerting truth that we live in a culture of disrespect locally and nationally. Violence, disrespect and the absence of civility are commonplace in every America; in fact, it's normative. Two-time Emmy Award winner Deborah Norville writing in her book, The Power of Respect, flat out says that Americans are ruder than ever before. And this paucity of civility and respect is even evident in the precincts of the holy. We church folk, including leaders, can be shamelessly rude in our interactions with each other. I've been cussed out, threatened, lied to...you name it... by church folk. But, I confess, I'm trying my best to not to fight-fire-with-fire. (I know some of you leaders who're reading this are shouting, "AMEN!")

Being respectful means being responsible for your behavioral responses. It means thinking before doing. And more often than not, it may mean biting your tongue, turning the other cheek or forgiving what you perceived as offensive.

Church leader, whether you are laity or clergy, here are just a few tips on how you can help train others to treat you with respect.

Show the way. Respect is circu-

Speak Life Thought

with First Lady & Co-Pastor Yolanda G. Butler

A Carefree Life

"Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time: Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you." (1 Peter 5:6-7)

Life has a way of weighing and wearing you down with troubles that cause you to worry. Worrying, if not handled properly, can turn into physical and emotional turmoil. Our Father knew that His children would face some difficulties in life including mental challenges. Yet, He did not leave us to live on this earth without hope. We not only can come boldly before the Throne of Grace in praise and worship but also in despair and brokenness (Heb. 4:16). Jesus told us that when we are weary and have worked ourselves up to the point of mental anguish come to Him and find the rest we need (Matthew 11:28). He would help us to regain strength and refresh us to a place of wholeness in Him.

Carefree means to live a life free of worries and responsibilities. Living a carefree life is not to be equated with a careless life, especially as it relates to responsibilities. Rather, the Apostle Peter gives us a clearer direction on how to live a carefree life that is totally dependent upon a Faithful God.

First, we are told to "humble" ourselves, which means to come under the authority of another. As believers, our posture should always be to submit to the Most High God. He is our Creator, and we are admonished to humble ourselves and worship Him in spirit and in truth (John 4:23). As we humble ourselves under the Mighty Hand of God, He has promised to "exalt" us in "due time." The word "exalt" here means to prosper, honor, and raise to dignity. To the willing and obedient child of God has our Father promised to graciously honor. With so many who struggle with self-esteem and self-worth, what comfort you will find if you can recognize that your true value and worth is in God through Jesus Christ.

Second, we are given instructions in "casting" the cares of life. "Casting" here is literally throwing. This is anything and everything that distracts one away from God, anxiety being a major culprit. It is these cares that He has given us a target to cast at the Master's Feet. This is moving from the place of trusting our own knowledge and abilities to casting our trust in God and resting in His provision, His wisdom, and His ways. We don't just tell Him about our problems, we also in turn cast (throw) them onto

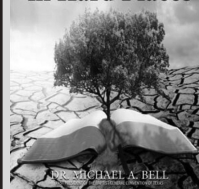

Him to handle as He deems fit.

Finally, the benefit of casting cares is reaping in exchange the loving care of our Father. It is comforting to know that we can come to a Faithful Father who delights in His children. We are on His mind and His thoughts towards us are good (Jer. 29:11). As freely as you give Him all your anxious thoughts and worrisome troubles, so will He freely take them, delight in you with gladness, calm your fears, and rejoice over you with joyful songs (Zep. 3:17).

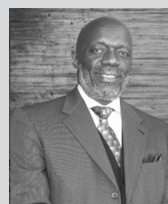

So dear hearts, be determined to cast your anxiety at the feet of the Master, receive His blessing, and live a carefree life through Jesus Christ.

7 Ways to Praise God in Hebrew by Tonja Taylor

1 Rejoice in the Lord, O you [uncompromisingly] righteous [you upright in right standing with God]; for praise is becoming and appropriate for those who are upright [in heart]. 2 Give thanks to the Lord with the lyre; sing praises to Him with the harp of ten strings. 3 Sing to Him a new song; play skillfully [on the strings] with a loud and joyful sound. 4 For the word of the Lord is right; and all His work is done in faithfulness.--Psalm 33:1-4, AMPC

The LORD accepts all true praise and worship; it must be from the heart, and only He can judge the heart.

Also, there are seven "categories" of praise and worship in Hebrew. I learned these from Carman (who is now in Heaven) and I'm so thankful. I was doing several of these before I knew what they were called.

Father God is such a good, good Daddy--we don't have to do everything "properly" for Him to receive our true adoration, infused with childlike trust in Him!

TODAH (TOE-dah) - To praise the LORD when things are the very hardest. (This has come in handy many times in my life, and is probably what we true Believers need more than any other kind!)

BARUCH (Bah-RUKE) - To bow to the LORD, and to bless Him.

YODAH (Yo-DAH) - To raise the hands to the LORD in worship.

ZAMAR (Zah-MAHR) - To praise the LORD on an instrument.

SHABACH (Sha-BACH) - To shout in victorious triumph to the LORD.

HALAL (Hah-LAHL) - To clap and sing loudly in praise to the LORD.

TEHILLAH (Ta-HEEL-ah) - To put all the facets of praise together (including dancing) and praise the LORD in high spirits.

Make sure you don't do these in front of people just to get attention, unless you're in a choreographed group worship dance or something. Of course people will be looking at you then. However, the purpose is not to get them to think how beautiful or anointed or whatever that you are, but to bring glory to Christ!

Most of these are best done in your private time with the LORD.

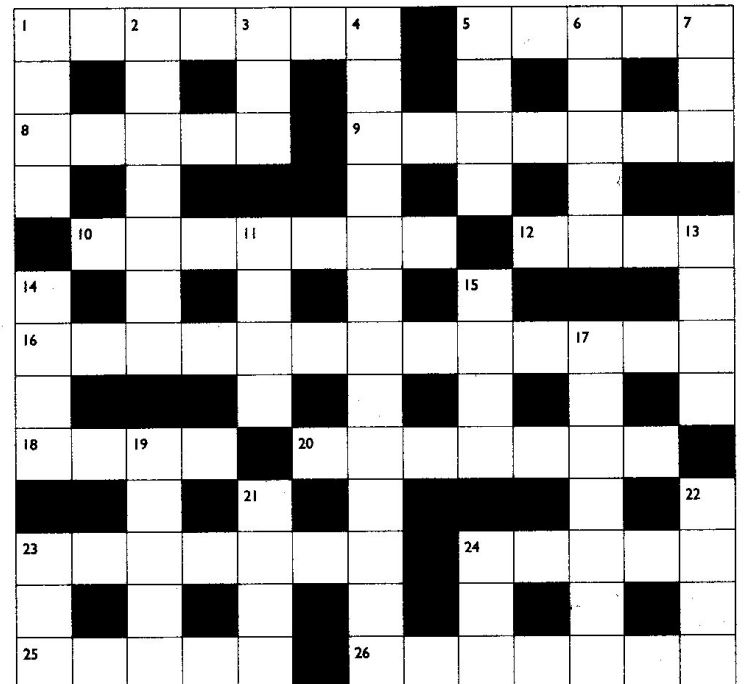

Another delightful point is that, when you praise and worship the LORD, the holy angels praise and worship with you!

Psalm 100--A Psalm of thanksgiving and for the thank offering.

1 Make a joyful noise to the Lord, all you lands! 2 Serve the Lord with gladness! Come before His presence with singing! 3 Know (perceive, recognize, and understand with approval) that the Lord is God! It is He Who has made us, not we ourselves [and we are His! We are His people and the sheep of His pasture. 4 Enter into His gates with thanksgiving and a thank offering and into His courts with praise! Be thankful and say so to Him, bless and affectionately praise His name! 5 For the Lord is good; His mercy and loving-kindness are everlasting, His faithfulness and truth endure to all generations.--Psalm 100, AMPC
