"The LEADER'S EDGE" by drmichaelbell

Harriet Tubman (1822–1913) knew what it meant to follow God's leading. She once said, "Twant me, 'twas the Lord. I always told him, 'I trust you. I don't know where to go or what to do, but I expect you to lead me,' and he always did." Tubman was a bold and audacious African American abolitionist in the mid-1800s. She confronted injustice and made a difference that still echoes through history. How did she escape slavery, free hundreds of others, and go on to serve as a nurse, spy, and scout during the Civil War? She followed the Lord.

What could happen in the year ahead if we followed the Lord with that same trust and intentionality? Following God means relying on his will and planning responsibly. Many churches step into a new year with enthusiasm, but without thoughtful preparation, that excitement can fade into disorganization and missed opportunities. A church that begins the year prayerfully and strategically can build lasting momentum. Proverbs 16:9 reminds us, "We should make plans - counting on God to direct us" (TLB). Our task as ministry leaders is to make diligent plans and trust God to direct them.

A wise leader, therefore, plans for the new year with several key areas in mind.

First, before looking ahead, look back. Reflect on the past year—what worked well, and what didn't? Meet with your leadership team and invite honest feedback. Reflection helps identify what to improve and reinforces what should be repeated. A vital part of this year-end conversation is revisiting your church's core mission and values. Are your ministries aligned with them? Does every leader and volunteer understand the "why" behind what you do? When a church stays rooted in its mission, every plan for the new year grows from solid ground.

Then there's the budget. After reflection, look at the numbers. Vision without resources is frustration waiting to happen. A good leader "counts the cost" before setting goals. Whether or not you receive a designated ministry budget, evaluate what your plans will cost and how to fund them responsibly. Familiarize yourself with your church's overall budget and ask key questions: Is there funding for youth or children's ministry? Are there resources for discipleship or outreach? Has money been set aside for leadership development? Understanding the financial landscape helps you dream realistically and steward wisely.

Next, focus on spiritual formation. A thriving church is one where discipleship is continuous, not occasional. That means having multiple Bible studies happening throughout the year. Plan strategically: How many studies will you offer annually? How do holidays, school breaks, and other ministries affect the schedule? Build a rhythm of learning that helps believers grow deeper in faith while staying connected to one another.

Finally, build your team. No ministry plan succeeds without one. The start of a new year is the perfect time to assess who's serving alongside you. Are there team members who need to take a break or rotate off? Do you need to invite new people with fresh perspectives and gifts?

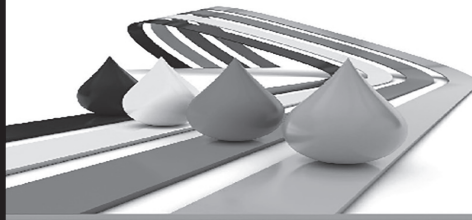

The new year offers every church a blank page. Thoughtful planning doesn't limit God's movement; it creates space for it. Like Harriet Tubman, we can move forward with courage, trusting that when we take the next faithful step, the Lord will lead us where we need to go.

Speak Life Thought

with Dr. Yolanda G. Butler

A WAKE UP LIFE

"Therefore He says: 'Awake, you who sleep, Arise from the dead, And Christ will give you light.' (Ephesians 5:14)"

When we first moved to Texas, I can recall being asleep at night when all of a sudden loud sirens began to go off. Being a California native, this was a sound I had never heard. I came to learn that this is the city's public warning system, which says, "Wake up! Sound the alarm for something's about to happen!"

Speaking to the Ephesian Church, the Apostle Paul admonishes us not to allow ourselves to get trapped into "unfruitful works of darkness," e.g., partnering with worthless deeds of the flesh and sin that produce bad fruit: bitterness, pain, and disgrace. We are all mandated to sound the alarm, shame the devil, and declare the truth by encouraging the saved to continue to live holy and the unsaved to turn their life around.

Biblically speaking, to sound the alarm is a loud, urgent warning, typically by blowing a trumpet, to alert people to approaching danger, judgment, or to call them to action for 1) war (a physical threat), 2) repentance (of sin), or 3) gather for worship (for religious festivals and sacrifices). To the Church today, it is a call for spiritual awakening and readiness, urging people to prepare for a significant event--the return of King Jesus.

There are all kinds of sounds. For example, the sound of mourning after the death of a loved one. The sound of birth after a child is born. The sound of sin as heard by Moses and Joshua from the camp of Israel (Exodus 32:17-18). The sound of mixed emotions was heard after the foundation of the new temple was laid (Ezra 3:13). The sound of oppression of built-up frustration, stress, spiritual heaviness, worry, and anxiety. (See Exodus 2:23-25) The sound of repentance by Nineveh, who fasted and cried "mightily unto God" to turn away His fierce anger against them (Jonah 3:8-10). The sound of prayer birthed through trials that catapult you to your knees; travailing prayers you labor until you get a release; spiritual warfare against the kingdom of darkness; and intimate worship of private intercession and renewal in the Father's presence.

As believers of the Most High God, we are all called to wake up, be on high alert, and sound the alarm by spreading the Gospel message. This means we must be ready at all times for the Son of Man shall come when we least expect it (Matthew 26:44). We must be sober and vigilant because the adversary the devil is on the hunt to destroy (1 Peter 5:8). We must cry loud and spare not the truth (Isaiah 58:1). And, we must be on guard, courageous, strong and stand firm in the faith (1 Corinthians 16:13).

Finally, we must be ready for the final trumpet call when the "Lord Himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: 17 Then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord." (1 Thessalonians 4:16-17)

So dear hearts, be determined to take heed to the Father's command to wake up and make the right sound that touches heaven.

The Family Returns with New EP, "Together Forever"

By: Fred Willis

The Family is back with new music and a new mission. After years apart, this long-awaited family reunion doesn't disappoint. Though short a few of the original members, the singers' connection remains as strong as it was in the beginning. The reunion was a long shot for years, but with persistence and prayer, the family came back together like they had never been apart. Dr. Darrell Blair says that each singer has different reasons for signing on for the reunion, while Jeanette Johnson always believed that God wasn't through with them. Ramona White admits that after coming together last year as part of Kirk Franklin's "The Reunion" tour, "there was a spark!"

Their iconic harmonies and blends are just as tight as they were when they debuted over 30 years ago. Though they weren't singing together, they kept singing. At church, on stage, in the studio, or anywhere else their gifts took them. Dalon Collins and Kisha Grandy-Lee have released music and enjoyed marginal success as independent artists and released "Born for Me," a Christmas duet in 2023. Collins said of this reunion and recording, "We didn't want to put a record out based on entertaining you."

While ruminating about their decades-long absence from the studio together, Dalon Collins suggested that their lived experiences are the real power behind their sustained sound. For Collins, this reunion, reemergence and resurgence is personal. After losing his ability to sing, this was a welcome opportunity for one of the most unforgettable voices in gospel music.

"Together Forever" features seven tracks and begins with a "Throwback Medley" featuring hits recorded with Kirk Franklin ("Conquerors," "Whatcha Lookin' 4," "Melodies From Heaven," and "Silver and Gold"). From there, the EP also features, "The Reset," "Victory Is Mine," "Believe," "Yeah Yeah," "Expectancy (ft. Earnest Pugh)," and "Jesus (I Love You Lord Today)," their current single at radio.

This iteration of The Family consists of: Kisha Grandy-Lee, Dalon Collins, Dr. Darrell Blair, Stephanie Glynn, Sheila Brice, Carrie Collins, Nelda Washington, Jeanette Johnson, Ramona White, Teresa Rucker, Demetrice Clinkscales and Yolanda McDonald. "Together Forever" is released on Blacksmoke Music Worldwide and is produced by EJ Lee. You can stream or purchase "Together Forever" on any digital music streaming platform of your choice. Plans for a tour are underway so look to see them near you, soon!

Giving Thanks for Dr. Opal Lee as She celebrates her 99th Birthday!! Happy 99th birthday to Opal Lee! | CITY NEWS

Cue the confetti and cake! Opal Lee, Fort Worth's "Grandmother of Juneteenth" turned 99 years young.

Lee's circle of influence ripples far and wide. Born Oct. 7, 1926, in Marshall, Texas, she was the eldest of three children born to Mattie (Broadus) and Otis Flake. The family moved to Fort Worth when Lee was 10, eventually purchasing a house on East Annie Street.

On June 19, 1939, just days after moving in, a mob of around 500 white rioters vandalized and burned down their home. Lee was approximately 12 years old at the time of the fire. That tragic event marked the start of Lee's lifelong activism and fight to keep the memory of Juneteenth alive.

She has spent many decades ensuring that Juneteenth remain etched in society's collective conscience. Her relentless efforts to make June 19 a federal holiday stand as her most notable and enduring achievement. That law was signed in 2021, and Lee attended the signing.

Steadfast in her commitment to memorializing Juneteenth, beginning in 2016 at age 89, Lee began her annual "Walks for Freedom" on June 19. Since that initial event, Lee's 2.5-mile treks have continued in Fort Worth, with people across the country joining in their own cities to amplify their voices and show support.

Besides receiving the Presidential Medal of Freedom in 2024, Lee also has served in several volunteer leadership and service roles, including Citizens Concerned with Human Dignity, Habitat for Humanity, Tarrant County Black Historical & Genealogical Society and the Community Food Bank.

Sixth Avenue Baptist Church of Corsicana celebrates 121 Years of Ministry

History of the Sixth Avenue Baptist Church

The Sixth Avenue Baptist Church in Corsicana, Texas, was founded by former slaves and began as an offshoot of the First Independent Baptist Church which was organized in 1868, following the Civil War, led by Simon Perry. On June 26, 1904, 25 faithful Christians organized the Sixth Avenue Baptist Church. Members of whom were children of the formerly enslaved founders, moved two blocks down from their mother church First Independent Baptist Church to start the new congregation. Founders were Rev. & Mrs. R.T. Pardee, Chestnut Family, Applewright Family along with many others.

After some years of membership growth and expansions the church thrived. January of 1994 Rev. J.L. Chaney retired as pastor of 26 years. In 1995, Rev. J.L. Collins preceded Rev. J. L. Chaney as Pastor. In the spring of 1999, Bishop K.D. Davis, Sr. preached his first sermon. Under his faithful and dedicated leadership for the past 26 ½ years the church has thrived in many areas. Many structural improvements as well as spiritual and membership growth. Our saying is I BELIEVE GOD.

Thanksgiving In The Black Community: A Celebration Of Unity

Alyssa Guzik

Thanksgiving holds a unique place in the Black community. It's more than just a day of feasting on Grandma's legendary mac and cheese or devouring that sweet potato pie like your life depends on it. It is a sacred opportunity to reflect upon our resilience and heritage, for we are the descendants of enslaved individuals who found strength in unity.

When the ancestral shackles still dignity.

Black folks understand the tragic history of Thanksgiving, a dark narrative often silenced within the annals of American tradition. We remember that this feast is rooted in the colonization and subsequent genocide of stolen land. Upon this fraught foundation, we build our discernment and choose instead to honor family bonds during this period.

We take this opportunity to gather around the table to savor delectable dishes and reflect on our hard-fought battles and triumphs. Despite centuries of adversity and systemic injustices, we have cultivated an unbreakable spirit of unity that shines brightest during this season.

Thanksgiving's foundation stands upon a tragic narrative often brushed aside. To romanticize this day without acknowledging its darker truths is to perpetuate the cycle of erasure that continues to marginalize indigenous voices. In the Black community, we hold the day sacred to embody an invaluable reminder of strength, identity, and shared heritage within the Black community.
