"The LEADER'S EDGE" by drmichaelbell

Change is a reality of life, and if you're a church leader then leading change in the church will be something you are familiar with. Because the church is people, and people change, it's inevitable. Change really means transition – a move from one state to another. In that sense, there is always change happening around us – or even within us!

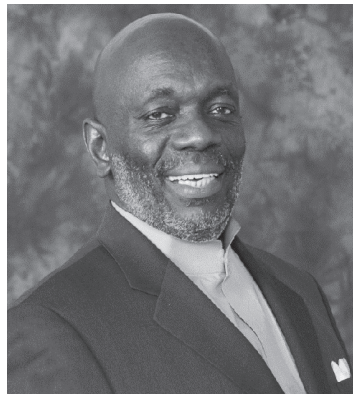

There are at least four types of change churches deal with and each has its own challenges. According to those who analyze church trends, the four most common types of change are: (1) Missional change - a change of purpose or re-examining of the "why" that you exist; (2) Directional change - a change of vision or the "where" you're on your way to; (3) Cultural change - a change of values, priorities and "who" you are; (4) Structural change - a change of people or activity or "how" you do things.

Proposing and implementing change are some of the hardest things a leader can do. How do we lead change well? How do we do it wisely? How can we manage change to be effective and as manageable as possible?

Pray first. In our rush to make changes and see results, we often ignore the most important step in leading change: prayer. Healthy, lasting change isn't something you can bring about in your own power and wisdom, no matter how good of a leader you are. You need God to do what only God can do. Pray for God's wisdom, God's courage, and God's strength. Pray for the congregation, and pray for those who oppose and criticize you.

Delineate the essential from the expendable. What is essential? What I would define as essential is the DNA of the church. What might need to change is your strategy. What's expendable? In the church I'm blessed to lead, we've decided to repurpose an annex on our campus and do some of our spiritual formation online.

Depersonalize conflict. When you step into the space of leading change, you become a magnet for conflict. Stop taking "push back" personally.

It's not about you. If you love God and you're trying to represent Christ as you ought, you're still going to get resistance. If you don't have the tenacity or the ability to live in your own skin and face conflict, then leadership probably isn't for you. Leadership is about moving people into change. If Jesus spent his entire ministry making people happy, he never would've gotten to the cross.

Cultivate next practices while excelling at best practices. There's a basic idiom related to organizational change—yesterday's solutions are today's problems. What were you solving yesterday that created a problem for today? If we keep doing the things we were doing yesterday, they're likely not going to get us to the new place we want to go. Take time to evaluate your strategies. As you think about best practices, ask: What is it that we're good at? What needs to begin to change?

Effectuate and consolidate change. Effectuating and consolidating change requires over communication, transparency, dealing with success, dealing with dissenters, and dealing with complacency.

Many of our congregations need to change in one area or another. It can seem impossible or overwhelming. But our churches need courageous leaders. The first step is to pray for God's help. No matter the circumstance, that is a right place to begin, so let's start there now.

Speak Life Thought
with First Lady & Co-Pastor Yolanda G. Butler

"A Life Not to Worry"

"So don't worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will bring its own worries. Today's trouble is enough for today. (Matthew 6:34 NLT)"

Worrying is an aspect of life that has the potential to hijack your thought life. The word "worry" means to feel troubled over actual or potential difficulties, express anxiety, or feel annoyed or disturbed. Worry is often the culprit behind anxiety. Jesus explains in Matthew Chapter 6 the importance of why not to worry. He gives us the solution to prioritizing our life when He said to "to seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness." This means to turn to God first for help, to fill your thoughts with His desires, to take on His character, and to serve and obey Him in everything. You must ask yourself, "What is really important to me?" People, objects, goals, and other desires all compete for priority. Any of these can quickly become bumper cars that bump God out of first place if you do not actively choose to give Him first place in every area of your life.

From this passage we can note at least seven reasons not to worry:

1. Because God said so (Matt. 6:25), The same God who created life in you can be trusted with the details of your life.
2. Worrying shackles your efforts for today (Matt. 6:26).
3. Worrying is more harmful than helpful (Matt. 6:27).
4. God does not ignore those who depend on Him (Matt. 6:28-30).
5. Worrying shows off your "but." The word "but" is a conjecture, an opinion or conclusion based on incomplete information. Worrying demonstrates lack of faith in and understanding of God (Matt. 6:31-32).
6. Worrying keeps you from pursuing Kingdom Principles (Matt. 6:33).
7. Living one day at a time keeps you from being consumed with worry (Matt. 6:34).

Planning for tomorrow is time well spent; worrying about tomorrow is time wasted. Sometimes it is difficult to tell the difference. Careful planning is thinking ahead about goals, steps, and schedules, and trusting in God's guidance. When done well, planning can help alleviate worry. Worriers, by contrast, are consumed by fear and find it difficult to trust God. They let their plans interfere with their relationship with God.

To counteract worry, consider meditating on Philippians 4:6-7: "Don't worry about anything; instead, pray about everything. Tell God what you need, and thank him for all he has done. Then you will experience God's peace, which exceeds anything we can understand. His peace will guard your hearts and minds as you live in Christ Jesus."

Recognize when you are worrying, capture it, and counteract it with prayer and Scripture. Tell God what you need and create your own formula of worship as a cure-all by giving Him praise for answered prayer. Finally, cover yourself with the Father's peace. True peace is not found in positive thinking, in absence of conflict, or in good feelings. It comes from knowing that God is in control. Our citizenship in Christ's kingdom is sure, our destiny is set, and we can have victory over sin. So dear hearts, be determined to allow the Father's peace to guard your heart and live a life that chooses not to always worry but always pray.

INSIDE THE MUSIC

Elder
Judy Neal

A Good Month to Sing the Good News

It is September, the first month of autumn and a time to remember the summer vacays. Not so much for Texas, but most of the country will feel some relief from the scorcher temps, June through August brought. Regardless to where you vacationed or what the temperatures are now, September simply signals a new season is upon us. I love the fact that in 2008 the U.S. Congress officially legislated September to forever be the month when Gospel Music is recognized nationally. As a result, September 2022 will be the 14th year of Gospel Music Heritage Month in America. The goal is to host local, state and national celebrations during the month to educate and entertain diverse audiences with the rich history and legacy of gospel. In this article, I will align gospel songs with the Gospel (the written good news of Jesus Christ) to emphasize why the music was created in the first place. Sing along with me.

Colossians 3:16 has always been the scripture theme for the music ministries where I have served. Apostle Paul encouraged the people to "let the message of Christ dwell richly as they admonished one another with wisdom through songs from the Spirit singing to God with gratitude". I think singing Donald Lawrence's Encourage Yourself would be appropriate after that Word. Ephesians 5:19b says "sing and make music from your heart to the Lord". Now Richard Smallwood's I Will Sing Praises goes right there. When we quote James 5:13b, "Is anyone happy: Let them sing songs of praise", just start singing Pastor Mike Jr.'s Amazing and Vincent Bohanan's We Win.

Keep singing reader cause this is our celebration of Gospel Music. Bible scholars know that Psalm is the cornerstone book for SINGING the good news, so let's go there. Quote Psalm 95:1 "come let us sing for joy to the Lord; let us shout aloud to the rock of our salvation", then sing Ricky Dillard's All of My Help. Glo-rraay! Continue with Psalm 147:1 "How good it is to sing praises to our God" then sing Anthony Brown and Group Therapy's Testimony or Tasha Cobbs' Put A Praise On It. Psalm 104:33 strongly declares "I will sing to the Lord all my life; I will sing praise to my God as long as I live". Now sing Forever by Jason Nelson and Always by Kirk Franklin. Whew! Read Hebrews 2:12, Psalm 18:49 and Romans 15:9 about singing praises to God's name. Now follow those with Your Great Name by Todd Dulaney, Wonderful Is Your Name by Hezekiah and Names by Elevation Worship. "Spring up O Well! Sing about it" states Numbers 21:17. Link that with I Made It Out by John P. Kee and We're Blessed by Fred Hammond. Now finally these next scriptures proclaim the promises that we know God will keep. First sing CeCe Winans' Believe For It, then read the following: Psalm 96:1-2, Psalms 98:1, Psalm 149:1 and Revelations 5:9. End your personal Gospel Music Heritage Celebration joyfully singing Tye Tribbett's All Things New, Better Than Good by Todd Galberth and New Day by Blanca and Jekalyn Carr. Great job! Congratulations on spreading the Good News in a creative and timely manner!

May Peace Be Your Journey
Elder Judy Neal judy@360wisemedia.com Holla!

WHAT IS THE ROLE OF CHURCHES IN THE UPCOMING ELECTIONS?

Many churches want to know how they can engage the culture during the elections in the right way. First, they need to understand the difference between endorsing candidates and influencing public policy. These are two very different activities for churches. Churches must engage in affecting public policy, to ensure it is informed by the tenants of our beliefs.

In addition to influencing public policy, churches should motivate their congregations to vote according to the principles in God's Word. Christians have the freedom as American citizens to vote people into office who share their beliefs and values. Often, Christians choose not to vote, however, because they feel their votes do not matter. Imagine the powerful influence Christians would have if all church members showed up to vote!

Policy Influence

America has lost the mooring of God's Word in legislatures across the country. Christians need to re-engage in public policy debate in order to influence laws at both the state and federal levels. We can do this in the following ways:

- Educate yourself and your members on issues being considered and bills being debated at the local, state, and federal levels.
- Work to build relationships with legislators in your area, at the state capital, and in Washington, DC.
- Encourage your congregants to call or write their representatives and urge them to vote according to biblical values.

Election Involvement

Of concern to pastors and churches is how to engage people during the election cycle without risking their 501(c)(3) status? People of faith must be involved in the political process, but political activities are limited for churches due to their IRS tax-exempt status. It is essential to know what your rights are.

- As a pastor, you have the right to speak personally concerning elections and particular candidates. Your 501(c)(3) status cannot be threatened by your right to personal freedom of speech in these areas.
- Your church may educate congregants, helping them understand what individual candidates believe about various issues, including distributing voting guides that score the majority of candidates on the issues.
- You may ask particular candidates to speak at your church, to give their testimony or present themselves as a candidate, as long as an official endorsement from the church does not follow the appearance.
- Pastors may advocate a certain position from the pulpit on relevant issues.
- As Christians, our influence on elections is vitally important. We must do our part to elect leaders who abide by the principles of God's Word. What a blessing it would be to see more Christians at the polls this year than in any election prior!

Voter Registration Drives

As you think through how to encourage and motivate your congregants to vote, point them to <https://vote.gov/> to register. This is an easy process and can be completed online. And consider a voter registration drive or voter registration Sunday event to promote voter participation.

As pastors, it is important to ask God to put principled leaders into elected office and to encourage our people to do their part. By following the guidelines listed here, your church can positively impact local, state, and federal elections without compromising your tax-exempt status. God's Word says, "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land." God is looking for His people to participate with Him in the task of bringing healing to our country.

Let's pray that God will do a mighty work this election season and begin to bring real healing to our land.
